GHOST STORY

A telltale heart, a golden arm,
A spooky spirit that might do you harm.
Late at night, so little light,
A scary story gives you such a fright!

Tell me, tell me, tell me a ghost story.
Tell me, tell me a tale that's weird and gory.
Scare me if you can
(Yes!) Scare me if you can.
Oooh - - oooh

#1: In an old and musty house crept a scowling man, with a nasty scar and an evil eye, who could scare the hide off of either you or me.
#2: Where did he come from?
#1: Who knows? He appeared from out of nowhere, like a ghost…..like an apparition….like a principal.

A witches brew, and goblins too,
A werewolf’s howl that scares you through and through.
A zombie’s cry, a banshee’s sigh,
A dancing mummy with an evil eye!

#1: The scowling man said:
#3: Don’t you know the tale of this haunted house?
#1: And I said, “No! What do you mean?”
#3: This house is alive! Don’t you know! Aliiiiiiive!!!!
#2: Alive?
#1: Yes! Alive as you or me! And if you hear it’s beating heart, you’d better watch out, for this very house might get you!

A ghoulish heist, a poltergeist,
A creepy lot with a heart of ice.
A scary dream, a bowl of steam,
A ghoulish groaning and a phantom’s scream! AHHHHHHHH!!!!!

#1: The man with the evil eye disappeared. But in my bed that night, I couldn’t help but listen, and Listen with all my might!
#2: And what did you hear?
#1: It started softly, like a distant drum.

A telltale heart, a golden arm,
A spooky spirit that might do you harm.
Late at night, so little light,
A scary story gives you such a fright!
Then it got louder and louder until the beating of that house’s heart was as loud as my very own!

Tell me, tell me, tell me a ghost story.
Tell me, tell me a tale that’s weird and gory.
Scare me if you can.
(Yes!) Scare me if you can.
Ooh - - Ooh.

The sound was pounding, pounding in my ears! I raced to the basement, tore up the floor boards,
And what do you think I found?

What???

There in the floor of the house I found it. The hideous, horrible and ever-beating tell-tale heart.
Can you hear it? Can you hear it?